Introduction Julian Thomas

Welcome to the 50th Edington Festival of Music within the Liturgy. It is a wonderful testament to the many people who have been involved over the years that the festival lives on and indeed flourishes at this time. It is an enormous privilege to be directing the festival in this special year, and I am sure it will be a truly memorable week.

The theme for this year’s festival is ‘Discipleship and the Kingdom of God’. In choosing this, I have deliberately sought to build on last year’s theme, the monastic Rule of St Benedict. In it, Benedict encourages his followers to strive for Christian values both as individuals and also in the community. As we come together for another festival, I hope we will have the opportunity, through music, liturgy and the spoken word, to explore what we mean by Discipleship, in particular our own personal response to the Christian message, and to look at our relationship with God and his Kingdom.

The week begins with The Call to Discipleship, allowing us to think about our own response to Christ’s call to follow him, and giving us space to reflect upon our Christian journey. Following on from this, it is important to pause and reassess what we actually mean by Belief: so much of high Anglican worship is routine—one of its real strengths, in my opinion—that it is easy to stop thinking about what it is we believe. I am delighted that our guest preacher this year, Canon Bruce Ruddock (Precentor of Peterborough Cathedral) will preach on this theme at the Eucharist on Tuesday. As we celebrate St Bartholomew’s Day on Wednesday, we consider the significance of The Apostles and their early role in the mission of the Church.

In the second half of the week, as we turn specifically to consider the Kingdom of God, various phrases from the Lord’s Prayer provide the stimulus for further thought. It is often without thinking that we say ‘Thy Kingdom come’, but what does that mean and, perhaps more importantly, what does it mean for us? So on Thursday we think about Preparing for the Kingdom, with its echoes of Advent and forethoughts of the Second Coming. On Friday, we are challenged by the prospect of Preaching the Faith, something which may seem doubly hard in an age of scepticism and unbelief. It is one thing to follow as disciples, it is another altogether actually to be involved in the promotion of the Gospel.

Salvation through Christ, on Saturday, gives us the opportunity to ponder awhile the ultimate sacrifice that Christ made for us all by giving up his life for us on the cross. I have deliberately chosen this theme to fall on the day of our anniversary celebrations because it seems so central to our purpose in the worship which we offer. Finally, as we prepare to go out once again into our day-to-day lives, we are challenged on the final Sunday by that line which we so often say in the Lord’s Prayer: Thy will be done. We are challenged not only to believe, but also to do God’s work in everything we do.

Although this is, of course, a very special year, we have sought not to lose sight of the reason for the festival—to glorify God—since that is what makes Edington unique and what draws us all to take part in it. Thus you will see that the pattern of daily worship is still at the heart of the festival week. The only slight change to the pattern is the inclusion of a Sequence of Music and Readings on the Saturday evening as an opportunity to celebrate our anniversary with a number of former festival members augmenting the choirs, tackling repertoire which would not comfortably sit in the context of Evensong.

I am delighted that, through the generosity of the Festival Association, we have been able to mark the 50th festival with a special commission from the highly esteemed composer Judith Bingham. Listeners to Radio 3 will be familiar with her many compositions which are regularly performed, and we are delighted that she has agreed to write a set of Evening Canticles for us. The ‘Edington Service’ Magnificat and Nunc dimittis will receive its first performance at Evensong on Tuesday, and will then be broadcast live the following day on BBC Radio 3.

In addition, we also have a number of other recent compositions this year, including a special anniversary hymn (to be sung on Saturday evening) with a wonderfully apposite text by Paul Wigmore and tune by John Barnard; another fine anthem, Vidi aquam, by festival organist Matthew Martin; and works by John Streeting and David Buckley. It seems most appropriate that we should continue to encourage and explore such new compositions, as this has been a constant feature of the festival over the past half century.

Of course, 2005 is not just our anniversary! This year we also celebrate the 500th anniversary of the birth of Thomas Tallis and the centenary of the birth of Sir Michael Tippett. As you will see, Tippett’s five moving and expressive negro spirituals from A Child of our Time form the backbone of the Thursday evening Sequence. Tallis’s music too, in its many different styles, features prominently throughout the week, in particular with the sublime forty-part motet Spem in alium at the Saturday Sequence, and the rarely performed Missa Salve intemerata at the Wednesday morning Eucharist.

As always, there are many people that I need to thank for their invaluable advice and assistance throughout the year, especially Peter Roberts and Becky Minogue our administrators, the choir directors Robert Quinney, Andrew Carwood and Jeremy Summerly, and organists Matthew Martin and Chris Totney. Obviously, much of the work of preparation goes on behind the scenes and I would like to pay tribute especially to Nick Flower, John Barnard, Christine Laslett, Joanna Robertson, Nicholas Buckman, John d’Arcy, Allan Edwards, and Reverend Dr Graham Southgate for all they do to make this festival so special. Finally, I would like to express a huge debt of thanks to the whole church community and all the villagers of Edington and the surrounding area, without whose support and warm welcome the festival could not possibly take place. Here’s to the next fifty years!

Festival and general information

Festival finances

The festival is financed almost entirely by voluntary donations from visitors and by the participants themselves, who pay to come. Collections are the main source of the festival’s income and, if you are a UK taxpayer, we would ask you to consider using the Gift Aid envelopes provided. Any profit made at the festival is put towards the cost of future festivals.

The collection at the final service of the festival goes to the parish. This helps with the costly maintenance of such a large church in a small community of only some 270 households. Please be as generous as you can in the collections.

Clergy

The festival clergy will be delighted to make time for individual conversations with members of the congregation. Please contact them after any of the services. Details of the celebrants and preachers can be found displayed in the porch.

Voluntaries and rehearsals

If you have to leave during a voluntary, please do so quietly as they are intended to be part of the service.

Choirs practise in the church prior to services. If you are taking a seat whilst the practice is going on, we would be obliged if you could do so quietly, as noise levels produced can be extremely distracting to the musicians.

Acknowledgements

The festival extends its thanks to Graham Southgate, Joanna Robertson and Nicholas Buckman, and to all the people of Edington, for welcoming us during the week, in particular to those who have provided accommodation for festival participants. Acknowledgement is also due to the parents and to the Organists of Durham Cathedral, St Patrick’s Cathedral, Dublin, St Paul’s Cathedral, London, Salisbury Cathedral, Southwark Cathedral, Westminster Abbey and Westminster Cathedral for allowing boys to take part in the festival.

The festival is also obliged to Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, for the provision of robes.

Finally, the festival is grateful for the assistance of the Eastleigh Surgery, Westbury, in relation to medical emergencies.

Seating

You are reminded that there is no system of reserved seating for any of the services and that, consequently, the practice of leaving items on seats prior to services is strongly discouraged.

Car parking

Car parking for visitors to the festival is provided in the field and on the verge opposite Monastery Gardens, and will be signposted. The church car park will be reserved for members of the clergy, administrative team and the disabled and infirm, whose parking needs will be given priority. The festival would be grateful for advance warning of any such parking requirements to Mr John Bennett (Telephone 01380 830630). The festival regrets that it cannot accept responsibility for the security of parked cars and advises visitors to place possessions in a locked boot.

Village facilities

Edington has one public house, the Lamb Inn, which is located at the Tinhead end of the village. Full meals are served there daily, and a special menu is in place during festival week. Meals are also available at the Duke Inn in Bratton, one mile to the west towards Westbury, and at the Longs Arms in Steeple Ashton, three miles to the north towards Trowbridge. Afternoon tea can be taken at the Stable Tea Rooms, Fitzroy Farm, Bratton. There are lavatory facilities available in the church car park.

The Society of Friends of Edington Priory Church

Those who have valued the worship of the festival may wish to support the vicar and the parochial church council in maintaining the priory church. The Society of Friends exists for this purpose and always welcomes new members. Further information can be obtained from the Honorary Secretary, Mrs Antonia Southern, Yew Trees, Lower Road, Bratton, Wiltshire BA13 4RG.

The Edington Music Festival Association

In response to the worry of covering the administration costs of the festival, the Edington Music Festival Association (Registered Charity 1099266) was founded in 2000. It is hoped that the Association will afford the festival a more assured financial footing, whilst giving supporters an opportunity to become more involved in its future. Members of the Music Festival Association will receive regular mailings of the Association Newsletter with articles on all aspects of church music, commercial recording offers and details of forthcoming concerts of interest. The minimum suggested subscription is £10 and forms may be obtained at the back of the church or from Michael Cooke, Aeron House, Llangeitho, Tregaron, Ceredigion, Wales SY25 6SU. Telephone 01974 821614, e-mail: joycooke@aol.com.

The Friends of Cathedral Music

If you have appreciated and valued the music which is such a vital part of the festival please support the Friends of Cathedral Music (FCM), founded in 1956 to assist cathedrals in maintaining their daily choral heritage. Membership leaflets are available on the bookstall at the back of the church and further information can be obtained from the Friends of Cathedral Music Membership Department, 27 Old Gloucester Street, London WC1N 3XX. Telephone 0845 644 3721, e-mail: info@fcm.org.uk.

Edington Music Festival 2006 Sunday 20 August to Sunday 27 August 2006

Anyone wishing to receive advance notice of the 2006 festival who is not already on our mailing list should complete one of the forms at the church entrance. Further details can be obtained from the Information Secretary, John d'Arcy, The Old Vicarage, Edington, Westbury, Wiltshire, BA13 4QF.

Schola Cantorum CD

A plainchant recording, made in the days immediately following the 2003 festival, is available. The disc features Matins and Compline in full, a selection of chant associated with St Bernard of Clairvaux and St Bartholomew, and other highlights from the repertory of the Schola Cantorum. Priced at £10, the recording is available at the back of the church. For details of further CD offers please refer to page 64.

CANTICLE plainsong Blessed be the Lord God of Israel: for he hath visited and redeemed his people;
And hath raised up a mighty salvation for us: in the house of his servant David;
As he spake by the mouth of his holy Prophets: which have been since the world began;
That we should be saved from our enemies: and from the hands of all that hate us;
To perform the mercy promised to our forefathers: and to remember his holy covenant;
To perform the oath which he sware to our forefather Abraham: that he would give us;
That we being delivered out of the hands of our enemies: might serve him without fear;
In holiness and righteousness before him: all the days of our life.
And thou, child, shalt be called the Prophet of the Highest:
for thou shalt go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways;
To give knowledge of salvation unto his people: for the remission of their sins;
Through the tender mercy of our God: whereby the day-spring from on high hath visited us;
To give light to them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death:
and to guide our feet into the way of peace.
Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the Holy Ghost;
As it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be: world without end. Amen.

RESPONSES plainsong Lord, have mercy upon us. iii Christ, have mercy upon us. iii Lord, have mercy upon us. iii

Master, we have laboured all the night and have taken nothing, but at your word I will let down the net.

ANTHEM Leighton Let all the world in ev'ry corner sing,
 My God and King.
 The heav'ns are not too high,
 His praise may thither flie:
 The earth is not too low,
 His praises there may grow.
 Let all the world in ev'ry corner sing,
 My God and King.
 The church with psalms must shout,
 No doore can keep them out:
 But above all, the heart Must bear the longest part.
 Let all the world in ev'ry corner sing,
 My God and King.

Qui propter nos homines, et propter nostram salutem descendit de caelis.
Et incarnatus est de Spiritu Sancto
ex Maria virgine et homo factus est.
Crucifixus etiam pro nobis sub Pontio Pilato: passus et sepultus est.
Et resurrexit tertia die, secundum scripturas. Et ascendit in caelum:
sedet ad dexteram Patris.
Et iterum venturus est cum gloria iudicare vivos et mortuos:
cuius regni non erit finis.
Et in Spiritum Sanctum, Dominum et vivificantem, qui ex Patre Filioque procedit.
Qui cum Patre et Filio simul adoratur,

Et expecto resurrectionem mortuorum.
Et vitam venturi saeculi. Amen.

COMMUNION Dupré O salutaris hostia,
Quae caeli pandis ostium,
Bella premunt hostilia,
Da robur, fer auxilium.

COMMUNION Elgar Ave verum corpus, natum
Ex Maria Virgine,
Vere passum, immolatum
In cruce pro homine:
Cuius latus perforatum
Vere fluxit sanguine,
Esto nobis praegustatum
Mortis in examine.
O clemens, o pie,
o dulcis Iesu, Fili Mariae.

*Sing to the Lord a new song, sing and bless his name,
for he has done marvellous things.
Sing and rejoice and sing praise, sing praise with the lute and with the sound of a hymn,
for he has done marvellous things.*

*I believe in one God,
the Father Almighty, maker of heaven and earth,
and of all things visible and invisible.
And in one Lord Jesus Christ,
the only begotten Son of God.
Begotten of his Father before all worlds,
God of God, Light of Light,
very God of very God, begotten, not made, being of one substance with the Father; by whom all things were made.
Who for us men
and for our salvation came down from heaven.
And was incarnate by the Holy Ghost of the virgin Mary and was made man.
And was crucified also for us under Pontius Pilate:
he suffered and was buried.
And on the third day he rose again
according to the scriptures. And ascended into heaven:
he sitteth on the right hand of the Father.
And he shall come again with glory to judge both the quick and the dead:
whose kingdom shall have no end.
And I believe in the Holy Ghost,
the Lord the giver of life,
who proceeds from the Father and the Son.
Who with the Father and the Son is worshipped and glorified: who spake by the prophets. And I believe in one holy catholic and apostolic church, I acknowledge one baptism for the forgiveness of sins.
And I look for the resurrection of the dead,
and the life of the world to come. Amen.*

*O saving victim,
opening the gate of heaven;
hostile wars press on,
give strength, bring us help.*

*Hail, true body, born of the Virgin Mary,
truly killed, sacrificed,
on the cross for man:
whose pierced side
truly flowed with blood,
the one first put to the test for us,
in the trial of death.
O clement, O loving,
O sweet Jesus, Son of Mary.*

Hunc arguta canant tenui psalteria corda, hunc agili laudet laeta chorea pede. Concava divinas effundant cymbala laudes, cymbala dulcesona laude repleta Dei. Omne quod aethereis in mundo vescitur auris, Alleluia canat, tempus in omne Deo.

Sing to the Lord on high with praises in his holy place: let the heavens tell out the wonderful works of God; sing of his wonderful works, and the holiness of his power; tell out his might, clap your hands continually. Let the battle-trumpet praise the glorious name of the Lord: sing to him on the lyre of the Muses. Echoing drums resound when taken up with praise of God: lofty organs resound with praise to God most holy. Tuneful harps with their slender strings sing of him, the joyful dance praises him with swift-moving feet. Hollow cymbals pour out heavenly praises, cymbals filled with the melodious praise of God. Let all creation, everything that breathes, sing praises now and evermore to God.

MOTET Radcliffe God be in my head, and in my understanding; God be in my eyes, and in my looking; God be in my mouth, and in my speaking; God be in my heart, and in my thinking; God be at mine end, and at my departing.

ANTIPHON plainsong	Excita Domine potentiam tuam ut salvos facias nos.	Stir up, O Lord, your might and come to save us.
HYMN plainsong	Ecce iam noctis tenuatur umbra, Lucis aurora rutilans coruscat; Nisibus totis rogitemus omnes Cunctipotentem, Ut Deus, nostri miseratus, omnem Pellat angorem, tribuat salutem Donet et nobis pietate Patris Regna polorum. Praestet hoc nobis Deitas beata Patris ac Nati, pariterque Sancti Spiritus, cuius resonat per omnem Gloria mundum. Amen. V̄ Repleti sumus mane misericordia tua. R̄ Exsultavimus, et delectati sumus.	Behold, already night's shadow is diminished, the rosy dawn of light gleams out; let us wholeheartedly beseech the almighty that God may have mercy upon us, do away all our pain, bestow on us salvation, and, with a Father's mercy, grant us the kingdom of heaven. May the blessed Godhead grant us this favour— the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost together whose glory echoes throughout all the world. Amen. V̄ In the morning we will be filled with your mercy. R̄ We will rejoice, and delight in it.
ANTIPHON plainsong	Super te Ierusalem orietur Dominus et gloria eius in te videbitur.	The Lord will arise upon you, O Jerusalem, and his glory shall be seen upon you.

GRADUAL Palestrina	Canite tuba in Sion, quia prope est dies Domini: ecce venit ad salvandum nos. Erunt prava in directa, et aspera in vias planas: veni Domine, et noli tardare. Alleluia.	Sound the trumpet in Sion, for the day of the Lord is near: Behold, he is coming to save us. Winding paths will be made straight and rough places smooth. Come, Lord, and do not delay.
OFFERTORY Byrd	Out of the deep have I called unto thee, O Lord: Lord, hear my voice. O let thine ears consider well: the voice of my complaint. If thou, Lord, wilt be extreme to mark what is done amiss: O Lord, who may abide it? But with thee there is mercy: therefore shalt thou be feared. O Israel, trust in the Lord, for with the Lord there is mercy: and with him is plenteous redemption. And he shall redeem Israel: from all his sins. Amen.
COMMUNION Gibbons	This is the record of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, Who art thou? And he confessed and denied not, and said plainly, I am not the Christ. And they asked him, What art thou then? Art thou Elias? And he said, I am not. Art thou the prophet? And he answered, No. Then said they unto him, What art thou? that we may give an answer unto them that sent us. What sayest thou of thyself? And he said, I am the voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord.
COMMUNION Victoria	O quam gloriosum est regnum in quo cum Christo gaudent omnes sancti! Amicti stolis albis sequuntur Agnum quocunque icrit.	O how glorious is the kingdom wherein all the saints rejoice with Christ! Clothed in white robes they follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth.

Sequence of Music and Readings

INTROIT Sheppard	Verbum caro factum est, et habitavit in nobis; cuius gloriam vidimus quasi unigeniti a Patre, plenum gratiae et veritatis. In principio erat verbum, et verbum erat apud Deum, et Deus erat verbum. Gloria Patri et Filio et Spiritui Sancto.	And the word was made flesh, and lived among us; and we have seen his glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth. In the beginning was the word, and the word was with God, and the word was God. Glory to the Father and Son and Holy Spirit.
CHANT plainsong	Rorate caeli desuper et nubes pluant iustum. Ne irascaris Domine, ne ultra memineris iniquitatis. Ecce civitas sancti facta est deserta, Sion deserta facta est: Ierusalem desolata est: domus sanctificationis tuae et gloriae tuae, ubi laudaverunt te patres nostros. Rorate caeli desuper et nubes pluant iustum. Consolamini, consolamini, popule meus: cito veniet salus tua. Quare mearore consumeris? Quia innovavit te dolor? Salvabo te, noli timere, ego enim sum Dominus Deus tuus, Sanctus Israel, Redemptor tuus. Rorate caeli desuper et nubes pluant iustum.	Drop down you heaven from above and let the clouds rain down the just one. Be not angry, O Lord, remember no more our iniquities. Behold the city of the holy one is deserted: Sion is made desolate: Jerusalem is laid waste: the home of thy sanctification and of thy glory, where our fathers praised thee. Drop down you heaven from above and let the clouds rain down the just one. Be comforted, be comforted, O my people: your Saviour shall come quickly. Why has grief devoured you? Why has sorrow disfigured you? I will save you, fear not: for I am the Lord your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Redeemer. Drop down you heaven from above and let the clouds rain down the just one.
SPIRITUAL Tippett	Steal away, steal away, steal away to Jesus; O steal away home, I han't got long to stay here. My Lord, he calls me, he calls me by the thunder; the trumpet sounds within-a my soul, I han't got long to stay here. Green trees a-bending, poor sinner stands a-trembling; the trumpet sounds within-a my soul, I han't got long to stay here.
CHANT plainsong	Tollite portas, principes, vestras, et elevamini portae aeternales, et introibit Rex gloriae.	Lift up your gates, O ye princes, and be lifted up O eternal gates, and the King of glory shall come in.
SPIRITUAL Tippett	Nobody knows the trouble I see, Lord, nobody knows like Jesus. O brothers, pray for me, and help me to drive old Satan away. O mothers, pray for me, and help me to drive old Satan away.
CHANT plainsong	Ave Maria, gratia plena; Dominus tecum. Benedicta tu in mulieribus, alleluia.	Hail Mary, full of grace, the Lord is with you. Blessed are you amongst women. Alleluia.
SPIRITUAL Tippett	Go down, Moses, way down in Egypt land; tell old Pharaoh to let my people go. When Israel was in Egypt land, oppressed so hard they could not stand, 'Thus spake the Lord,' bold Moses said, 'If not, I'll smite your first-born dead.'
SPIRITUAL Tippett	O by and by, I'm going to lay down my heavy load. I know my robe's going to fit me well, I've tried it on at the gates of Hell. Hell is deep and a dark despair, O stop, poor sinner, and don't go there.
SPIRITUAL Tippett	Deep river, my home is over Jordan, Lord, I want to cross over into camp ground. Oh chillun! Oh don't you want to go to that gospel feast, that promised land, where all is peace. Walk into heaven and take my seat, and cast my crown at Jesus' feet.

Eia ergo, advocata nostra, illos tuos misericordes oculos ad nos converte. Et Iesum, benedictum fructum ventris tui, nobis post hoc exsilium ostende. O clemens, o pia, o dulcis virgo Maria.	Hail queen, mother of mercy: hail, our life, our sweetness, and our hope. To you do we call, in exile, the children of Eve. To you do we sigh, mourning and weeping in this vale of tears. Come therefore, our advocate, turn those merciful eyes of yours towards us. And after this our exile, show us Jesus, the blessed fruit of your womb. O clement, O loving, O sweet virgin Mary.

Choral Matins

- INVITATORY O come, let us sing unto the Lord: let us heartily rejoice in the strength of our salvation.
Byrd Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving: and shew ourselves glad in him with psalms. For the Lord is a great God: and a great King above all gods. In his hand are all the corners of the earth: and the strength of the hills is his also. The sea is his, and he made it: and his hands prepared the dry land. O come, let us worship, and fall down: and kneel before the Lord our Maker. For he is the Lord our God: and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand. Today if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts: as in the provocation, and as in the day of temptation in the wilderness; When your fathers tempted me: proved me, and saw my works. Forty years long was I grieved with this generation, and said: It is a people that do err in their hearts, for they have not known my ways. Unto whom I swear in my wrath: that they should not enter into my rest. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the Holy Ghost; As it was in the beginning, and is now, and ever shall be: world without end. Amen.
- CANTICLE We praise thee, O God: we knowledge thee to be the Lord. All the earth doth worship thee: the Father everlasting. To thee all Angels cry aloud: the heavens and all the powers therein. To thee Cherubim and Seraphim: continually do cry, Holy, Holy, Holy: Lord God of Sabaoth; Heaven and earth are full of the Majesty: of thy glory. The glorious company of the Apostles: praise thee. The noble army of Martyrs: praise thee. The holy Church throughout all the world: doth knowledge thee; The Father: of an infinite Majesty; Thine honourable, true: and only Son; Also the Holy Ghost: the Comforter. Thou art the King of glory: O Christ. Thou art the everlasting: Son of the Father. When thou tookest upon thee to deliver Man: thou didst not abhor the Virgin's womb. When thou hadst overcome the sharpness of death: thou didst open the kingdom of heaven to all believers. Thou sittest on the right hand of God: in the glory of the Father. We believe that thou shalt come: to be our Judge. We therefore pray thee, help thy servants: whom thou hast redeemed with thy precious blood. Make them to be numbered with thy Saints: in glory everlasting. O Lord, save thy people: and bless thine heritage. Govern them: and lift them up for ever. Day by day: we magnify thee; And we worship thy Name: ever world without end. Vouchsafe, O Lord: to keep us this day without sin. O Lord, have mercy upon us: have mercy upon us. O Lord, in thee have I trusted: let me never be confounded.
- CANTICLE Blessed be the Lord God of Israel: for he hath visited and redeemed his people; And hath raised up a mighty salvation for us: in the house of his servant David; As he spake by the mouth of his holy Prophets: which hath been since the world began; That we should be saved from our enemies: and from the hands of all that hate us; To perform the mercy promised to our forefathers: and to remember his holy covenant; To perform the oath which he sware to our forefather Abraham: that he would give us; That we being delivered out of the hands of our enemies: might serve him without fear; In holiness and righteousness before him: all the days of our life. And thou, child, shalt be called the Prophet of the Highest: for thou shalt go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways; To give knowledge of salvation unto his people: for the remission of their sins; Through the tender mercy of our God: whereby the day-spring from on high hath visited us; To give light to them that sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death: and to guide our feet into the way of peace.
 Glory be to the Father, and to the Son: and to the Holy Ghost;
 As it was in the beginning, and is now, and ever shall be: world without end. Amen.
- ANTHEM The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor: he hath sent me to heal the broken-hearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind; To preach the acceptable year of the Lord; To give unto them that mourn a garland for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified. For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth the things that are sown in it to spring forth; so the Lord God will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations.

OFFERTORY The world is charged with the grandeur of God.
Leighton It will flame out, like shining from shook foil;
It gathers to a greatness, like the ooze of oil
Crushed. Why do men then now not reck his rod?
Generations have trod, have trod, have trod;
And all is seared with trade; bleared, smeared with toil;
And wears man's smudge and shares man's smell: the soil
Is bare now, nor can foot feel, being shod.

And for all this, nature is never spent;
There lives the dearest freshness deep down things;
And though the last lights off the black West went Oh, morning, at the brown brink eastward, springs—
Because the Holy Ghost over the bent World broods with warm breast and with ah! bright wings. GERARD MANLEY HOPKINS

INTROIT Libera nos, salva nos,
Sheppard iustificata nos, o beata Trinitas.

CHANT Exsultemus et laetemur hodie, plainsong Dies iste, dies est laetitiae:
Alleluia. Resurrexit Dominus.
Exsultandi et laetandi tempus est:
Pascha nostrum immolatus Agnus est.
Timor absit, absit desperatio.
Iam illuxit Christi resurrectio.
Ad sepulcrum mulieres veniunt,
Ab Angelo responsum recipiunt.
In sepulcro quem dolentes quaeritis?
Surrexisse dicite discipulis.
Celebrantes hoc Pascha sanctissimum,
Epulemur veritatis azymum Fermentatum expurgemus noxium:
Victor surgit, vera vita omnium.
In hoc ergo vetustatis termino, Servus liber benedicat Domino.
Ab inferis nunc redit captivitas:
Omnes Deo referamus gratias.

MOTET Os iusti meditabitur sapientiam:
Bruckner et lingua eius loquentur iudicium.
Lex Dei eius in corde ipsius:
et non supplantabuntur gressus eius.

MOTET Jesu, meine Freude,
Bach meines Herzens Weide, Jesu, meine Zier, ach wie lang, ach lange ist dem Herzen bange, und verlangt nach dir!
Gottes Lamm, mein Bräutigam, außer dir soll mir auf Erden nichts sonst Liebers werden.

Es ist nun nichts Verdammliches an denen, die in Christo Jesu sind,
die nicht nach dem Fleische wandeln, sondern nach dem Geist.

Unter deinem Schirmen bin ich vor den Stürmen aller Feinde frei.
Laß den Satan wittern,
laß den Feind erbittern, mir steht Jesus bei.
Ob es izt gleich kracht und blitzt,
ob gleich Sünd und Hölle schrecken:
Jesus will mich decken.

Denn das Gesetz des Geistes, der da lebendig machet in Christo Jesu, hat mich frei gemacht von dem Gesetz der Sünde und des Todes.

Trotz dem alten Drachen,
Trotz des Todes Rachen, Trotz der Furcht dazu!
Tobe, Welt, und springe
ich steh hier und singe in gar sicherer Ruh.
Gottes Macht hält mich in acht;
Erd und Abgrund muß verstummen, ob sie noch so brummen.

Deliver us, save us, justify us, O blessed Trinity.

*Let us exalt today and be joyful;
This day is a day of joy.
Alleluia, the Lord is risen.
It is the time to exult and rejoice,
The Lamb, our Passover is sacrificed.
Put away fear and despair;
Christ's resurrection has already dawned.
The women come to the tomb;
They receive the Angel's message.
Whom do you seek so sadly in the tomb?
Tell his disciples that he is risen.
As we keep this most holy Passover,
Let us feast on the unleavened bread of truth.
The harmful leaven we must put away;
The Conqueror is rising, true life of all.
Therefore, now old things pass away,
Let the slave set free bless the Lord.
The prisoners have come again from the pit;
Let us all return thanks to God.*

*The mouth of the righteous is exercised in wisdom:
and his tongue will be talking of judgement.
The law of his God is in his heart:
and his goings shall not slide.*

*Jesus, my joy,
my heart's pasture,
Jesus, my jewel.
Oh, for how long has this anxious heart longed for You!
Lamb of God, my Bridegroom, apart from You, no one on Earth will be my lover.*

*There is therefore now no condemnation to them who are in Christ Jesus, who wander not after the flesh,
but after the Spirit.*

*Under your shelter,
I am free from the storms
of all the devils.
Let Satan threaten,
let the fiend rage,
Jesus stays by me.
Even though lightning cracks and flashes,
even though sin and hell scream,
Jesus will protect me.*

For the law of the Spirit which gives life in Christ Jesus has set me free from the law of sin and death.

*Defy the old Dragon, defy the jaws of death,
defy fear as well!
Rage, oh world, and quake,
here I stay,
singing in perfect peace!
The might of God holds me;
earth and abyss shall be silent, however much they growl.*

PSALM 145: 13

Ihr aber seid nicht fleischlich, sondern geistlich,
so anders Gottes Geist in euch wohnt.
Wer aber Christi Geist nicht hat, der ist nicht sein.

Weg mit allen Schätzen!
Du bist mein Ergötzen, Jesu, meine Lust!
Weg, ihr eitlen Ehren,
ich mag euch nicht hören,
bleibt mir unbewußt!
Elend, Not, Kreuz, Schmach und Tod soll mich, ob ich viel muß leiden, nicht von Jesu scheiden.

So aber Christus in euch ist,
so ist der Leib zwar tot um der Sünde willen;
der Geist aber ist das Leben um der Gerechtigkeit willen.

Gute Nacht, o Wesen, das die Welt erlesen,
mir gefällt du nicht!
Gute Nacht, ihr Sünden, bleibet weit dahinten,
kommt nicht mehr ans Licht!
Gute Nacht, du Stolz und Pracht!
Dir sei ganz, du Lasterleben, gute Nacht gegeben.

So nun der Geist des,
der Jesum von den Toten auferwecket hat,
in euch wohnt, so wird auch derselbige, der Christum von den Toten auferwecket hat, eure sterbliche Leiber lebendig machen,
um des willen, daß sein Geist in euch wohnt.

Weicht, ihr Trauergeister, denn mein Freudenmeister,
Jesus, tritt herein.
Denen, die Gott lieben, muß auch ihr Betrübten lauter Zucker sein.
Duld ich schon
hier Spott und Hohn, dennoch bleibst du auch im Leide, Jesu, meine Freude.

*You, however, live not by the flesh,
but by the Spirit,
since the law of God has made a home in you.
Indeed, anyone who does not have the Spirit of Christ does not belong to Him.* ROMANS 8: 9

*Away with all wealth!
You are my delight,
Jesus, my pleasure!
Away, you vain glories,
I don't want to hear you,
I remain unaware of you!
Distress, misery, the cross, disgrace and death:
however much I suffer,
they must not part me from Jesus.*

*But when Christ is in you,
the body is dead because of the will of sin;
but the Spirit is alive
because of the will of righteousness.* ROMANS 8: 10

*Good night, oh reality, which has chosen the world,
you do not please me!
Good night, you sins,
stay far behind me,
do not come into the light!
Good night, haughtiness and splendour!
And to you, life of iniquity,
a special good night!*

And if the Spirit of Him who raised Jesus from the dead has made His home in you, then He who raised Christ Jesus from the dead will give life to your own mortal bodies through His Spirit living in you. ROMANS 8: 11

*Give way, you spirits of sadness, for Jesus, my master of joy is entering in.
Those who love God must accept their sadness
as pure sugar.
Though I suffer
mockery and derision here, yet even in my sorrow shall You, Jesus, remain my joy.*

*Yours is the power; yours the kingdom, Lord;
you are above all peoples;
grant peace, Lord, in our time.
Creator of all, God fearsome and mighty,
just and merciful.
Glory be to the Father, to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit.*

*I have never placed my hope in any other than you, O God of Israel, who can show both anger and graciousness, and absolve all the sins of suffering man.
Lord God, creator of heaven and earth, be mindful of our humiliation.*

*Good God, do not throw me out in my old age, when our strength is gone:
do not desert us, Lord, mighty God, mighty and strong,
mighty and merciful Saviour,
do not relinquish us to the bitterness of death.*

Biographies

Julian Thomas became Director of the Edington Music Festival in 2004, but has been participating in the festival since 1987, first as a treble and more recently as a member of Schola and as one of the organists.

He is currently Assistant Organist and Director of the Girls' Choir at Norwich Cathedral (a post he took up in September 2001). He gained his early musical training as a chorister at Salisbury Cathedral, and then as a music and academic scholar at Charterhouse, before going up to Jesus College, Cambridge, to read Music as Organ Scholar. Whilst there he directed both the Chapel Choir and the College Mixed Choir, and studied the organ with David Sanger. After graduating, Julian moved to Lincoln Cathedral as Second Assistant Organist, and in July 2000 he became a Fellow of the Royal College of Organists, winning the Harding and Durrant prizes. He has appeared on both radio and television accompanying and conducting choirs in Lincoln and Norwich, and has been involved in several CD recordings.

In addition to his Cathedral duties, Julian teaches the organ and gives regular recitals: recent venues having included Blackburn, Southwark, St Edmundsbury and Norwich Cathedrals, and the Temple Church, London. He has participated in a number of masterclasses with, amongst others, Najj Hakim and Nicolas Kynaston. He is chorusmaster for the University of East Anglia Choir and directs the Norwich Cathedral Consort.

Julian is married to Ellen, a doctor and keen amateur musician, and his hobbies include cooking, walking, cycling, gardening and eating out.

Jeremy Summerly was educated as a chorister at Lichfield Cathedral, at Winchester College, and at Oxford University from where he graduated with First Class Honours in Music. While in Oxford he was a choral scholar at New College and after graduating he worked as a Studio Manager for BBC Radio, founded the Oxford Camerata, and undertook musicological research at King's College, London. In 1989 he became a lecturer in the department of Academic Studies at the Royal Academy of Music, and in the following year he was appointed conductor of Schola Cantorum of Oxford. He has also acted as guest conductor for the New London Chamber Choir, The Cardinal's Musick, the Rundfunkchor, Berlin, and the Tallis Chamber Choir. Since 1991 he has conducted over forty recordings spanning the music of nine centuries and as a writer he has contributed articles to Early Music, The Musical Times, Choir & Organ, Leading Notes, and Classic CD. In 1996 he became Head of Academic Studies at the Royal Academy of Music and in 1999 he was also appointed Head of Undergraduate Programmes.

Jeremy has given concert tours throughout Europe and the United States as well as in Japan, Indonesia, Hong Kong, South Africa, Botswana, Israel and Palestine. He has conducted at the BBC Proms, at the Aldeburgh, Exeter, Ryedale, South Kesteven, Docklands and Kumamoto Festivals, and at the 'Tage Alter Musik' in Regensburg. He has conducted world premieres of music by John Tavener, Viktor Ekimovsky, Dimitri Smirnov, Joel Eriksson, Ruth Burchmore, Mark Edgeley-Smith, Nicholas O'Neill, and Antony Pitts, UK premieres of music by Franco Donatoni and Maciej Zielinski, and the London premiere of I am the true vine by Arvo Pärt. As well as working with choirs, he founded the Oxford Camerata Instrumental Ensemble in 1992 and the Royal Academy Consort in 2002; he has also conducted the Northern Chamber Orchestra in Manchester, the Ensemble Ste Geneviève in Paris, the Britten Sinfonia in Oxford, and the Academy of St Martin-in-the-Fields in London. In 1995 he was a recipient of a European Cultural Prize from the European Association for the Encouragement of the Arts (Basel, Switzerland) and in 1997 he was made an honorary associate of the Royal Academy of Music. As a liturgical musician he sang for over a decade (1987–98) at St Margaret's, Westminster and has conducted the liturgical choirs at many other London churches; from January 1999 until June 2002 he was Director of Music at Christ Church, Chelsea. As a BBC Radio 3 writer and presenter he has made programmes in locations all around the UK as well as in Belgium, France, Holland, Iceland, Israel and the USA. He has published four volumes for Faber Music: Gaudete!—Medieval Songs and Carols for upper voices, Passtime with good company—Medieval Songs and Carols for mixed voices, Fair Oriana—Madrigals in celebration of Elizabeth I, and Thomas Tallis—English Sacred Music. Since January 2003 he has been a regular reviewer and commentator for BBC Radio 4's daily arts programme Front Row and in May 2005 he even contributed to BBC Radio 2's series Living in Harmony.

Jeremy owes a huge debt of gratitude to the hundreds of people who have helped him to realize his musical and liturgical dreams at Edington over a quarter of a century, and in particular to his really rather distinguished friends John Harper, John Barnard, Peter Wright, Geoffrey Webber, David Trendell, Andrew Carwood, Robert Quinney, Peter Barley, Paul Brough, Julian Thomas, and, of course, the late Peter McCrystal and David Calcutt. As well as to Antonia Southern—to her, perhaps, most of all.

Robert Quinney began directing the Nave Choir at Edington in 2001, following three years as Organist of the Festival. For the rest of the year he is Sub-Organist of Westminster Abbey, a post which combines his three performing interests: ensemble and solo organ playing and conducting.

Robert studied Music at King's College, Cambridge, where he was organ scholar. Having gained a double first in the tripos he spent a further year in Cambridge, preparing an M.Phil. thesis that traces strands of Bach reception through the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries towards the high priests of twentieth century modernism, Schoenberg and Stravinsky.

During his postgraduate year Robert also produced an exhaustive survey of Bach's Church Cantatas in preparation for Sir John Eliot Gardiner's Bach Cantata Pilgrimage, in which he was also a performer. His academic work recently bore fruit in a lecture course on Bach at King's College, London, and in June this year he and his wife, the soprano Cecilia Osmond, appeared on the BBC's Today programme, giving a preview performance of and talking about the newly discovered Bach aria, Alles mit Gott und nichts ohn' Ihn.

In September 2000 Robert was appointed Assistant Master of Music at Westminster Cathedral. In addition to daily work with Westminster Cathedral Choir, he organized and gave many of the Cathedral's organ recitals, including a performance of Francis Pott's monumental organ symphony Christus. Shortly before his move to Westminster Abbey in September 2004 he made two recordings on the Grand Organ of Westminster Cathedral, due for release this Autumn on the Signum label.

As a solo performer his profile has increased steadily since winning the Royal College of Organists Performer of the Year competition in 2002. While his repertoire (predictably) focuses on the music of Johann Sebastian Bach, it extends from the sixteenth century to the present day.

Andrew Carwood is one of the most versatile musicians of his generation, dividing his time between solo and consort singing and directing his own group at an international level. He was a choral scholar at St John's College, Cambridge, a lay clerk at Christ Church, Oxford and Westminster Cathedral, London before holding the post of Director of Music at the Brompton Oratory in London for five years.

As a singer he is particularly known for his performances of the English repertoire, from consort songs by William Byrd to the role of the Male Chorus in Britten's Rape of Lucretia and for music of the Baroque. He has performed with many of the major British ensembles both on disc and on the concert platform throughout the world, including The Tallis Scholars, The Orlando Consort, Oxford Camerata and Pro Cantione Antiqua and has undertaken solo roles for Sir Roger Norrington, Joshua Rifkin, Harry Christophers, Richard Hickox, Paul McCreech, Phillippe Herreweghe, Robert King and Christopher Hogwood. His discography includes works by Hassler, Vivaldi, Haydn, Warlock, Howells, Poulenc, Janáček and Christopher Headington.

As a conductor he works principally with The Cardinal's Musick and together they have performed throughout the United Kingdom and Europe. He has become a widely acknowledged expert on music of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries and is also known for the scholarly and entertaining way in which he introduces and narrates concerts, breaking down barriers between audience and performers and allowing the music to speak in an even more eloquent way. Andrew has also worked as guest conductor with The Sixteen, The King's Consort, Musica Reservata de Barcelona and the Aarhus Symphony Orchestra. He was the Music Advisor for the National Theatre's 2001 production of Luther by John Osborne and is also happy to escape to the Edington Music Festival each year to conduct the Schola Cantorum.

Judith Bingham, composer of 2005 Festival Commission, was born in Nottingham, grew up in Sheffield and had already been composing actively for many years when she entered the Royal Academy of Music in 1970 to study composition and singing. Her teachers included Alan Bush and Eric Fenby, later Erich Vietheer (for singing) and most potently Hans Keller, with whom she studied privately.

Her individual musical voice soon attracted attention and led to many requests for works, notably for the King's Singers, Peter Pears and The Songmakers' Almanac. In 1977 she won the BBC Young Composer Award and from 1983 to 1996 she was a regular member of the BBC Singers, for whom she has written nine works: at the end of 2005 she becomes their Associate Composer.

The premiere of Chartres in 1993 led to a succession of major performances and commissions by the BBC Philharmonic, London Symphony Orchestra, King's College, Cambridge, the Centenary Proms, Three Choirs Festival, Westminster Abbey and the Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra, who performed The Temple at Karnak twenty-one times throughout Europe and the US. Judith Bingham is one of the UK's most internationally performed composers: the string trio Chapman's Pool has received over eighty performances globally in just two years—astonishing for a contemporary score—and other works have recently been played in Paris, Oslo, St Louis, Copenhagen, Mexico, Tallinn, Rotterdam and Perth, Australia.

While her orchestral and choral works have made the widest impact, Bingham has won particular acclaim for her scores for brass ensemble, band and solo: in 2003 she was the first woman to have a work (Prague) selected as a National Brass Band Championship testpiece. She is also fast becoming recognized as a major composer of organ music. New works include scores for the Goldberg Ensemble, Thomas Trotter and the Royal Ballet, and her huge orchestral piece Chartres was selected for the Encore project and conducted by James MacMillan in March 2005. She was the 2004 winner of the Barlow Prize for choral music, and won two British Composer awards in the same year for choral and liturgical music.

The Edington Music Festival—the first 50 years

(this article first appeared in Cathedral Music magazine)

Julian Thomas

This year, for the fiftieth time, the Priory Church in Edington plays host to a music festival, or to give it its proper title, a Festival of Music within the Liturgy. Of course, there is no shortage of music festivals nationwide, but what makes Edington unique is the backbone of liturgy around which it is structured. In an age where recorded music is so widely available, one of the things which makes this festival so special is the fact that all the music is heard within the context of worship—there are no concerts, just four services daily; no grand orchestral collaborations, just beautiful artistry to the glory of God. The festival's founder, Sir David Calcutt, envisaged it as 'a festival in which God is worshipped through beauty—beauty of sight, shown or seen in stone or ceremony, beauty of sound, made or heard in the word sung or spoken'.

From humble beginnings, when a group of Cambridge choral scholars and four trebles gathered to sing for a few days, to the present day, with a whole week of services sung by three separate choirs, the ethos has remained essentially unchanged: that the daily routine of worship is central to our existence. The three choirs now are the Nave Choir, consisting of 16 boys and 12 men from cathedral and collegiate choirs (conducted by Robert Quinney); the Consort, a mixed-voice group numbering about 16 adults (conducted by Jeremy Summerly); and the Schola Cantorum, a group of 12 men singing exclusively plainsong (directed by Andrew Carwood).

The basic pattern of worship consists of four sung services each day: Matins at 9.00am, Solemn Eucharist at 11.30am, Evensong at 8.00pm and Compline at 9.15pm. At the heart of each day is the Eucharist, and all three choirs always sing at this service. During the course of the week the whole gamut of Mass settings is covered, from plainsong and Renaissance polyphony through to Classical Viennese, Romantic and more modern settings. The remaining music is chosen to reflect the theme of the day, complementing or contrasting with the mass setting. Evensong is generally a 'traditional' cathedral-style service, but the presence of more than one choir enables a wider variety of styles and repertoire to be covered, including at times a number of polychoral works.

Matins and Compline are sung entirely to plainchant by the Schola Cantorum. The morning office is perhaps one of the most uplifting moments of the day: as the sun streams through the large windows in the Chancel, there is something wonderfully understated about hearing the psalms, canticle and antiphons of the day chanted in perfect unison. By contrast, the gentle candlelight at Compline draws one into introspection and quietude, as if one has been transported back centuries, eavesdropping on the monastic Opus Dei. One of the real joys of having a choir singing exclusively plainsong all week is the professionalism they bring to it. All too often, plainsong is sung in cathedrals without any great understanding of the notation and its subtleties; at Edington, however, the Schola totally immerse themselves in the style, singing from the original four-line stave notation, bringing a freshness and spontaneity to the chant. One might think that the offices of Matins and Compline were a poor relation to the polyphony of Eucharist and Evensong, but any regular to the festival would be able to tell you otherwise!

The sixteen boys are recruited from a selection of cathedrals and collegiate choirs, in recent years from Westminster Abbey, Westminster Cathedral, Salisbury, Wells, St Paul's, Durham, Southwark, Winchester, New College, Oxford and St Patrick's, Dublin. Usually these boys are some of the most senior in their own choirs; to have a whole choir of strong voices both gives a mature sound, and also makes sight-reading somewhat easier—a real necessity given the amount of music they have to learn. Obviously some of the repertoire is familiar, but there is always some repertoire which will be new to them, and, moreover, they have to be ready to broadcast on the BBC Radio 3 Choral Evensong after just three days together, which is no mean feat. They are supported by a back row of men from similar choirs: some choral scholars, others more experienced lay clerks.

The Consort sings almost entirely a cappella works, specializing in both Renaissance polyphony and twentieth-century music. Under the experienced guidance of Jeremy Summerly, they are able to perform pieces that would perhaps not normally be tackled by other choirs, either because of their length or complexity of part-writing. They often sing in the slightly more generous acoustic of the Chancel, which particularly suits the rich female top line. The three choirs certainly complement each other and there is very little overlap of repertoire styles between them.

Although there is inevitably a huge amount of music to be learnt in the course of the week, the festival is definitely not all hard work. Each morning is taken up with rehearsals and services, but every afternoon (apart from the Wednesday for the broadcast) is given over to free time, as it has always been. The boys are taken on various outings including trips to Longleat, Stonehenge, Wookey Hole caves, one of the nearby swimming complexes and much more besides. The administrators and some of the adult singers help on these excursions too, and this is just one example of the way the festival community draws together socially as well as musically.

The first festival took place in August 1956, under the leadership of the then vicar, Ralph Dudley, and David Calcutt (a former choral scholar at Cambridge). For a place of only some 270 households to host a musical festival is a daunting prospect, and the involvement of local people has always been crucial to its success throughout the years. In this respect Ralph Dudley's vision was formative: he encouraged everyone to make it a joint venture between village and musicians. Whilst in some ways the influx of so many singers and congregation is clearly an invasion, nevertheless for the vast majority of the villagers it is also a reuniting of old friends, an opportunity to celebrate what is best in the Church, and a chance to be part of something unique. In the very early years, services were also sung in the nearby villages of Heytesbury, West Lavington and Steeple Ashton, but it quickly became evident that Edington was the perfect venue for the whole week, both as a practical and spiritual home.

The first year was modest in its proportions, lasting just four days and with only one sung service a day. It is easy, however, to lose sight of how important this was as a first step: Edington Church had not known daily sung services for generations, and there was no assumption of grandeur—it was, after all, just a group of friends making music together. By the end of this first year, though, it was obvious that the experiment would be repeated, and thus the festival was born.

It was already clear by the fifth festival, in 1960, that something special had been established and, moreover, that it was here to stay. David Calcutt, in his introduction to the festival that year, wrote: 'It has become increasingly evident ... that there are others besides the singers who derive pleasure, not to say inspiration, from the services.' The congregation is as much a part of the worship as the singers and the clergy, and it is this bond between these groups which draws people back year on year. There are those who come for a single service, right through to those who attend all twenty-five. Obviously they all come because they enjoy the music, but a good many come for more than that. There is something wonderfully uplifting about being part of a large congregation that not only appreciates the quality of what is being sung and spoken, but actually believes it too. John Harper wrote in 1973: 'There is never a notion of concerts with moments for prayer. Rather, the balance of actions, words, music, and silence should achieve that artistic unity that is true liturgy.' Undoubtedly the decision in the late 1970s to have Compline sung by a dedicated choir specializing in plainsong rather than by the whole congregation was seen by some as detracting from the congregation's involvement in the worship. Instead though, as Harper commented, it merely changed it: 'It is not the intention to exclude, but rather to involve by opening minds to new thoughts, to ponder in beauty, and so to pray.'

Liturgy and worship would, of course, be incomplete without the input of the festival clergy, and their important role in the week is vital to the success of the services. The mix of 'home team' clergy and various invited priests, usually about four or five in total, brings many benefits. It not only enables them to share out the considerable workload of so many services, but also it allows the congregations to benefit from a wide range of different ideas and theological arguments. Indeed, it is a real privilege to hear preaching of such quality accompanying the musical excellence which people have come to expect. Like the musicians, the clergy team mixes newcomers with the old hands; particular mention must of course go to Canon Paul Rose who has been involved for well-nigh forty years.

The festival has, from the outset, had the unwritten intention of encouraging young talent and providing an opportunity for young singers to meet each other. There is something strangely alluring which draws singers back from one year to the next and there is a real sense of picking up where one left off fifty-one weeks earlier. Often, boys who first came as trebles return years later to any one of the three choirs; others like Nicholas Hinton, John Harper, Geoffrey Webber and myself go one stage further and become festival director, which does prompt one to look at each new intake of choristers and wonder which one might follow in the directorial footsteps.

Right from the earliest years, there has always been a sense that the festival should not only celebrate what is familiar in church music, but also look to explore by commissioning new works. The list of such works, set out as page 62, is impressively long and includes a good many familiar names: Francis Grier, Grayston Ives, Simon Preston, Philip Radcliffe, Francis Pott, John Harper and Andrew Gant to name but a few. Some of the commissions have found their way into the mainstream repertoire (such as Radcliffe's Responses and Ives's Evening Canticles), others lie waiting to be rediscovered, but it is a central part of our festival outlook that we should be at the forefront of composition. In celebration of this 50th festival we have commissioned Judith Bingham to write a setting of the Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, which will be performed during the BBC broadcast.

Each year the festival director chooses a particular theme to explore during the course of the week, ranging widely, for example from an exploration of the Psalms to a particular monastic Rule, from John Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress to the Gospel of St John. A particular aspect of this theme is then chosen for each day and explored through music, readings and the sermon.

One advantage of a congregation made up entirely of music-lovers is that they always sit still throughout organ voluntaries, and this does add greatly to the completeness of the worship. Occasionally other instruments have been used to great effect too such as harpsichord, chamber organ, viol consorts and various solo instruments, but the pitch of the organ and the lack of space in the church have tended to restrict this a little. Liturgical drama too has featured from time to time, particularly during some of the Sequences of Music and Readings which sometimes replace Evensong.

One of the pleasant by-products of the fact that the festival has grown in size over the years is that there is an ever greater diversity within the assembled musicians: professionals and amateurs alike join together entirely voluntarily. Indeed everyone, from the youngest chorister right through to the administrators and director, actually pays for the privilege of taking part in the festival. This has a wonderfully levelling effect on us all: there are singers who could be earning their fortune (relatively!) standing alongside others for whom it is simply a hobby.

Without the incredible generosity of the villagers of Edington and the surrounding area in providing bed and breakfast free of charge, it would not be possible for the festival to take place. The contributions that the singers pay help towards the cost of lunch and supper, provided in the Parish Hall. The only other sources of income are the BBC broadcast fee and the collections taken at services. In recent years it has been particularly pleasing to see a steady increase in service collections as people recognise that financial support is essential if the festival is to thrive.

It was with the aim of helping to secure a more stable financial future that the Festival Association was set up in 2000, with charitable status. Through grants, the festival is now more easily able to commission new music, and purchase and properly care for robes; the Association also helped to finance a highly successful CD recording of plainsong sung by the Schola. In a similar vein, the Society of Friends of Edington Priory Church has over the last half-century contributed enormously to the upkeep of such a magnificent fourteenth-century building and it is a mark of the close links between festival and village that many festival participants are also Friends of the church.

Whilst the village of Edington itself is somewhat lacking in facilities (the nearest shop being a few miles down the road in Bratton), the Lamb Inn does a marvellous job in catering for the needs of thirsty singers. Musicians are not known for being abstemious, and the Lamb certainly does good business during festival week. Congregation and performers alike mingle, along with some of the more hardy villagers, and the festival pool competition is always hotly contested—although the clergy team regularly rely on divine intervention to cover for a lack of real talent in this field!

In celebrating this fiftieth festival, we inevitably look back with pride on a rich history, but look to the future too, encouraging young musicians, challenging congregations and, above all, helping to cherish the musical heritage of which we are just one small part. We look forward to welcoming new faces and old friends alike at the 50th festival.

In memoriam Sir David Calcutt

It was with great sadness that we learnt, just some days prior to last year's festival, of the death of Sir David Calcutt on 11 August 2004.

David Calcutt was born on 2 November 1930 in Marlow, Buckinghamshire, and from there he went to Christ Church, Oxford, as a chorister. He was educated at Cranleigh, where he was a music scholar, and it was perhaps at this point that the seeds of the Edington Music Festival were sown. Under the tutelage of Warren Green he was to win a choral scholarship to the King's College, Cambridge, where he took two degrees simultaneously in music and law. It was during these years that he met Ralph Dudley when he accepted the role of Assistant Choirmaster in Ralph's then parish of West Wrating, close to Cambridge. The friendship forged between the two men during the smoke-filled evening drives back and forth between Cambridge and West Wrating was the foundation stone upon which the festival was built. On leaving Cambridge and being called to the Bar in 1955, it was clear to David that his love of music and the church should not be allowed to recede gently into memories of undergraduate life. Happily, in the summer of 1955, Warren Green met Ralph Dudley, by now in his second year as Vicar of Edington, and they encouraged David to try to arrange something here for the following summer. He did, and guided the festival through its first tentative years until handing over the directorship of an established festival to Nicholas Hinton, himself a treble at the first festival, in 1965. Just one example of the affection in which David held Edington was that he should return to the festival in 1969 for the celebration of his marriage to Barbara.

It was not just in music that David's love of the church was evident. As his legal practice grew so did the number of appointments; in 1970 he became Chancellor of the diocese of Bristol, in 1971 of Exeter and in 1983 of the newly formed diocese of Europe. The Church Times records that David enjoyed pointing out to his friends that, geographically, the Pope was within his jurisdiction as Chancellor! He became Deputy Chairman of the Somerset Quarter Sessions in 1970, took Silk in 1972 and that same year became a Recorder for the Crown Court. He was appointed a Judge of the Appeal Court of the Channel Islands in 1978. Were he not busy enough, in 1984 to 1985 he was Chairman of the Bar Council, thereafter chairing numerous inquiries and committees, perhaps the most famous of them being the Falkland Islands Commission of 1984 and the Committee on Privacy and Related Matters looking into the habits of the press in 1986. In 1986 he also became Master of Magdelene College Cambridge where he and Barbara brought great enthusiasm to all aspects of College life and are fondly remembered both for the renewed intellectual vigour that was encouraged in all and the unstuffy atmosphere that together they promoted. He was knighted in 1991 and became Master Treasurer of Middle Temple in 1998.

Throughout this time he remained a staunch friend of the festival. Each year, Barbara and he would make the journey to Edington to take part in the worship we continue. Some might not have known of his reputation generally or importance to the festival specifically, but a succession of young directors were enormously grateful to be able to rely on his wise counsel. That he did not seek the limelight was what marked David out whether in his legal, academic or church life; his care and love for all three and his immense ability were what resulted in the great affection and high esteem in which he was held by so many. We are indeed lucky to enjoy the gift that David created and left to us in this festival, and our most fitting tribute to his memory should be that the beauty of sound made and heard in the word, sung or spoken, might resound in this place which he loved for generations to come.

Village Welcomes Music Festival Michael Jones

Was this a headline in the Wiltshire Times in 1956? There were nineteen men and boys making the music of the first festival. Now the visiting musicians, priests and administrators total well over seventy. The companion lists show there was early rapid growth, with up to seventy participants even before the introduction of the Consort. It must have been in the early years that the impact of the festival on Edington was most marked; the rapport between visitors and host community then achieved has been the basis of the long lasting relationship. Much of the parish organisation nowadays operates 'the same as last year' and actually is as untroubled as may appear to our visitors. This can only be because of justified reliance placed on the detailed planning and foresight of the Festival Director and Administrator.

There was a wet '50s week when the trebles, bedded in a marquee in The Monastery Garden, caught colds which affected their voices. Thereafter B&B was provided in village homes, with reserve capacity at the former Vicarage—as many as twelve visitors would sleep there. In the past decade hosts have also had to be found in neighbouring villages. Edington was twice visited by its festival in 1980, when in January of that year an extra night's B&B was needed for singers returning to make a recording marking the 25th anniversary of the festival. The securing of accommodation is a mammoth task for the organiser, but Christine Laslett has a unifying effect of quickly involving newcomer households in her search for beds. Last year the festival was supported by forty-four host homes. The thank you letters are appreciated. Often from a parent we hear of the influence upon their boy of the general environment and atmosphere; once, on a return car journey, a report to the family concluded 'We must move to Edington'.

Main meals for the participants were taken at the school until 1985, convenient for opt out to The Lamb and The George. Parish Hall feeding has been better located and latterly the caterers' menus have satisfied.

Villagers are much involved in other administrative arrangements, about thirty as sidesmen, or at the tea hut and car park. There was a one-time local initiative which had not been discussed with the Festival Director; when he heard after the first Sunday Compline that drivers entering the Priory field car park were confronted by attendants collecting a charge he raged that this was contrary to festival ethos and it did not survive that night. Such local enthusiasm has since been diverted to more appropriate participation in the services, with parishioners contributing as readers, servers and assistants at communion.

Visitors do ask about the church's worship in the other fifty-one weeks. Our mid-Anglican ways are not much influenced by the festival. Ralph Dudley used to preach to a supposedly apprehensive home congregation just before the festival's arrival about the liturgical benefit of incense, but only years later was it introduced at Christmas and Easter. The August week is dumb for Edington's own organist and choir who well deserve the break. Several residents, through connection with the festival, have developed an appreciation of church music which otherwise may not have touched them.

Apart from Compline, the Wednesday evening following the broadcast Evensong was quiet until, in 1981, regulars were surprised by an unforgettable sequence of contemporary instrumental music, not since repeated. The Musical Evening and Supper came in 1984. John d'Arcy's diary reveals an expectation of madrigals at that first event, but the much appreciated extra effort of the singers had a lighter style from the start. The supper is prepared and served by 'The Committee' of village ladies, and the marquee, retained for the final Sunday lunch, is an essential resource.

Ralph Dudley would observe mischievously that he was rarely consulted about festival plans. I believe that, from the start, an ingredient of the festival has been an understanding between Director and Vicar. There must have been this accord for the very survival of the festival. The benefit for Edington Church was clear to Ralph when welcoming David Calcutt's concept; the Society of the Friends was founded on those who had discovered Edington at the first festival. Indeed, the fact that Edington is renowned is due to the experience of successive generations who have brought or heard the music here.

So, the village does welcome the Music Festival: the exuberance of young musicians, the return of familiar visitors, each year an uplifting celebration of this unique relationship being one of God's gifts to the people of Edington. We regret only that there is no room to spare in this village for those of the congregation who would stay a while, but over the years teas and lunches at the Pinsons and more recently at the Lamb have signalled our welcome, as at long last do the car park loos.

The Edington Music Festival Association— compact disc offers

In 2004 The Edington Music Festival Association funded the Schola Cantorum plainchant recording, details of which may be found on page 7. This recording has raised a significant amount of money for the Association.

For 2005, the Association is pleased to offer a range of recordings—generally featuring musicians familiar from Edington festivals past and present—from the catalogue of Hyperion Records. Copies of the recordings listed below are available from the Association Honorary Treasurer, Justin Lowe, at the special price of £12, £3 of which goes into Association funds.

THOMAS TALLIS Gaude gloriosa and other sacred choral music

THE CARDINAL'S MUSICK conducted by ANDREW CARWOOD

This disc includes the monumental Gaude gloriosa, Loquebantur variis linguis, O nata lux, the Latin Magnificat and Nunc dimittis, and Suscipe quaeso Domine

ANTONY PITTS Seven Letters and other sacred choral music

TONUS PEREGRINUS conducted by ANTONY PITTS

The singers on this new disc include Rebecca Hickey and Nick Flower; the sleeve notes are by Jeremy Summerly, dedicatee of one of the works.

HERBERT HOWELLS Sacred choral music

WELLS CATHEDRAL CHOIR conducted by MALCOLM ARCHER

No direct link with the festival here, but this is a very good disc, presenting some of Howells's lesser-known works, including A Sequence for St Michael, the 'Windsor' canticles and the 'New College' canticles.

JUDITH BINGHAM Mass & RALPH VAUGHAN WILLIAMS Mass

THE CHOIR OF WESTMINSTER CATHEDRAL conducted by MARTIN BAKER with ROBERT QUINNEY playing the organ

Before writing for Edington this year, Judith Bingham won a British Composer Award for Liturgical Music for the Mass commissioned and recorded by The Choir of Westminster Cathedral. It is coupled with Vaughan Williams's Mass in G minor.

Please note that these discs are only available to members of the Festival Association.
